

Second Plenary Meeting, Bochum, 6 – 7 November 2009

LOGISTICS

Getting to Bochum from Köln/Bonn Airport:

The airport has its own Deutsche Bahn (DB) train station centrally located in front of the terminals (indicated in red on the map). Signs are posted throughout the airport.

You can take a high-speed train (ICE) directly to “Bochum Hauptbahnhof” (Main Station).

Please check train schedules at <http://www.bahn.de/international/view/en/index.shtml>.

Train tickets may also be bought on the train but are more expensive.

Getting to Bochum from Düsseldorf Airport:

There are several local trains (RE1, RE6, RE11, S1) departing from Düsseldorf Airport which take you directly to Bochum Hauptbahnhof (Main Station) in regular intervals. There are directions at the airport, or take a look at the interactive map: <http://www.duesseldorf-airport.de/dus/lageplaene/?plan=10>

Please check train schedules at <http://www.bahn.de/international/view/en/index.shtml>.

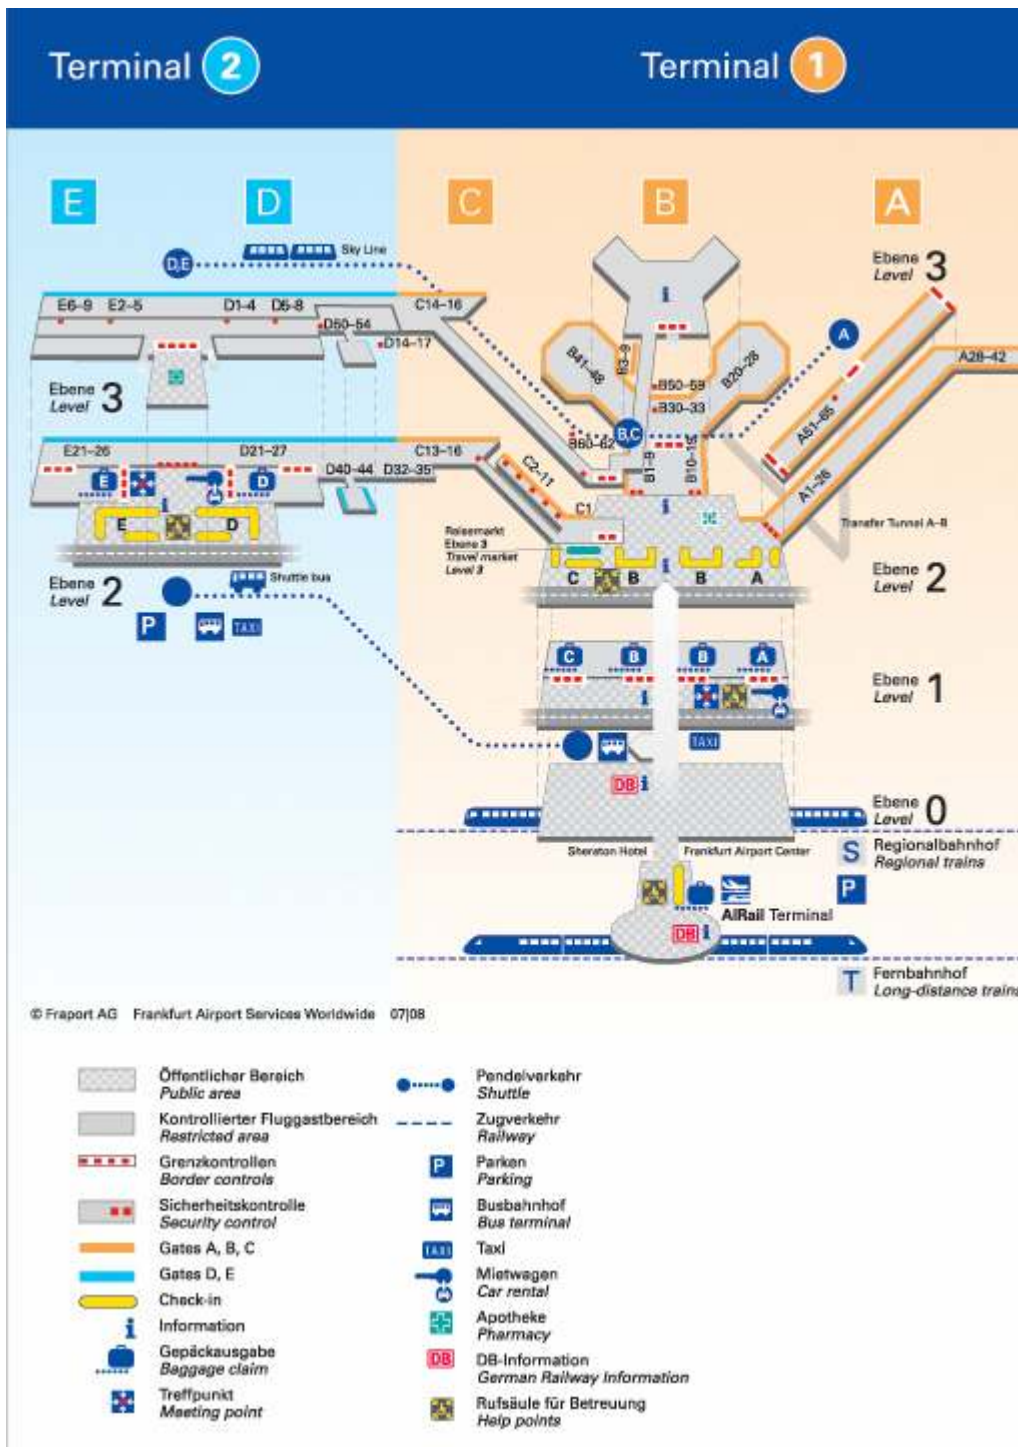

Train tickets may also be bought on the train but are more expensive.

Getting to Bochum from Frankfurt Airport:

The Frankfurt Airport train station is integrated into the main building's structure on a lower level (indicated on the map as “Fernbahnhof/long-distance trains”); signs are posted throughout the airport. High-Speed trains (ICE) are departing in regular intervals; connections differ according to the time of day.

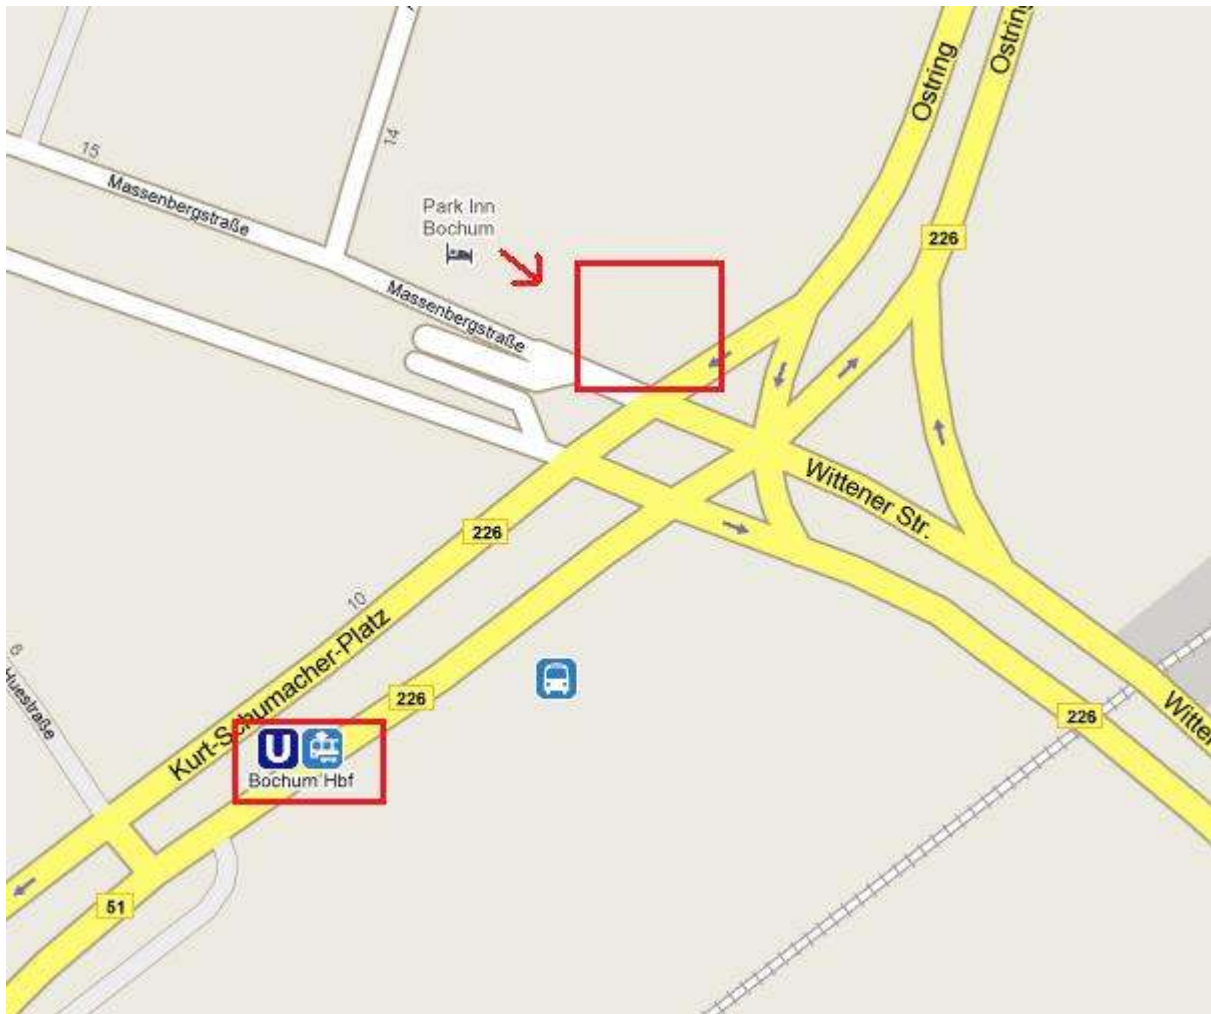

Please check train schedules at <http://www.bahn.de/international/view/en/index.shtml>.

Train tickets may also be bought on the train but are more expensive.

Getting from Bochum Main Station to your hotel:

The Park Inn is located directly across the street and to your right from the main station (Bochum Hauptbahnhof). Leaving the building through its main entrance, cross the streets straight in front of you (Kurt-Schumacher-Platz), turn to your right and you can see the hotel in front of you across the street Massenbergstraße.

Getting to the Ruhr-Universität Bochum from the Park Hotel:

From Bochum Main Station there is direct connection to the Ruhr-Universität taking the U35 (direction: Hustadt). The trains depart every 5 minutes and take approximately 10 minutes to reach the stop 'Universität'.

An animated map can be found here:

To get to the TUZ, pass the library on your left and turn right toward the M-buildings. The TUZ is a new glass and concrete building right in front of building MA marked on the map below as TUZ. There will be signs posted.

Getting to the restaurant 'Strätlingshof'

Take the Bus 368 from the main bus station at Bochum Main Station (direction: Ruhrpark/UCI)

It takes about 5 minutes to reach the stop 'Wimmerstraße'.

The 'Strätlingshof' is an old framework-farm building located directly at the bus stop.
